COURSE DESCRIPTION

The process of engaging followers of other religions is examined with the purpose of facilitating effective communication of the gospel. Representatives serving in diverse religious contexts explore unique opportunities and challenges presented by various historical and contemporary religious environments.
OBJECTIVES

Through the pre-session readings, research, and writing, the session lectures and discussion, and the post-session reading, research, and writing, the student should be able:

1. To appraise the elements of various world religions based upon their own beliefs, rationalities, and worldviews.
2. To evaluate some of the components of engagement of various world religions with a Christian and missiological lens.
3. To assess the various missiological methodologies in reaching practitioners of various world religions in terms of engagement and effectiveness.
4. To integrate the material of the course into a means by which the usage and an appreciation of indigenous questions via religious lens are accepted with a genuine missiological interactive sensitivity.
5. To interact with world religion discussions in regards to various religious and Christian traditions in terms of various Evangelical and Pentecostal positions and concerns on relating to other world religions.

METHODOLOGY

The course will include some lectures, student presentations, and class discussions. It will also involve library (and possible field research) in the preparation of a final assessment document.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

It is assumed that students at AGTS will endeavor to be honest and of high integrity in all matters pertaining to Seminary life. A lack of respect and integrity is evidenced by cheating, fabricating, plagiarizing, misusing facilities, removing books and other property not one’s own, and disrupting classes.

Cheating is defined as “intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information or study aids in any academic exercise.” It is assumed that whatever is submitted by a student is the work of that student and is new work for that course. Fabrication is “intentional and unauthorized falsification or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise or form.” Plagiarism is “intentionally or knowingly representing the words or ideas of another as one’s own in any academic exercise.” One who facilitates any of the above is equally responsible with the primary violator.

Penalties may include restitution, an “F” on an individual paper, exam, or course; loss of campus employment; disciplinary probation; removal from extracurricular activities; and suspension.
THE USE OF COMPUTERS IN THE CLASSROOM

The use of computers for word processing in the classroom represents a privilege given to students to enhance their learning. They may be used only for purposes related to the course. It is therefore a breach of classroom etiquette, an act of rudeness, and a distraction to other students, when computers are also used to surf the web, watch videos, play games, and send messages, etc., during class time. The professor assumes that seminarians will be persons of integrity when using computers in the classroom.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Pre-Session: 1. While covering the same basic material, two of your textbooks have a fundamentally different approaches. Read, compare and contrast one religion (Buddhism, Hinduism, Chinese/Daoism/Confucianism, or Islam) in the two textbooks, Farhadian, Introducing World Religions and Noss/Grangaard, A History of World Religions. Write a 3-4 page (double space in Turabian 8th edition) interaction noting the different approaches, highlighting the similarities and differences from your own perspective, and citing any key lessons that you gleaned from the exercise. Be sure to include the primary source material from Smart/Hecht anthology to supplement your interaction. As the class focuses on these religions, we will spend time discussing these considerations as a backdrop to the broader questions. The paper should be turned in the first day of class.

2. Read these other required textbooks listed in this syllabus, Hiebert and Shaw, Understanding Folk Religion, and Sire, The Universe Next Door. The student is expected to submit 2-3 page typed critiques of each of the assigned texts. The critique should evidence graduate level interaction with the arguments(s) of the book. Less than 1 page can be summary, and the reminder should be critique. At the end, there should be a sentence or two with recommendations on who would benefit from the book. The paper should conform to the Turabian 8th edition format (double-space, Times New Roman 12), and for citing the book being reviewed you can cite the page(s) with parenthesis (e.g., (97)). For a book review, a title page is not required, but the complete bibliographical of the book being reviewed should be on the top of the first.
Session: 1. Attend class and participate in discussions.

2. Based on the reading of all the required literature and your additional research, be prepared to give a presentation for 45-50 minutes on a specific world religion, (on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Dec. 12-14) answering these questions (clarity on some of the questions will come from Monday and early Tuesday discussions). This is a basic understanding of the religion itself and should answer these questions:

   - What is the basic history of the religion, and the main geographic distribution? No more than 15 minutes on this.
   - What are the basic tenets of this faith, and worldview of practitioners? What are the main branches (and basic differences)?
   - Is there a sacred text(s)? What is the final authority for determining appropriate belief?
   - What are the key rituals in this religion? What is the key mode of participation for the average follower? Is there a structure or hierarchy in the leadership of this religion?
   - Is there any additional pertinent information about this religion and its adherents that a new missionary going into this environment should know in order for appropriate contextualization or genuine relationship to occur?

The student is to oversee the follow-up discussion. Only one presentation per religion, so first come first served in terms of reserving your selection.

- The Religions to be presented:
  - Hinduism
  - Buddhism
  - Islam
  - Latin American Roman Catholicism
  - Shintoism
  - Animism
  - Jainism
  - Sikhism
  - Secularism
  - Zoroastrianism

- The procedure
  - The student should select one the religions as soon as possible and notify the professor (lewisp@evangel.edu, 417-268-1014). They will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis.
  - The student should prepare a presentation for class, and include a select bibliography of key works in and on that religion.

Post-Session: 1. A research paper is required. This should engage with more detail analysis of one of the world religions (or sub-group—e.g. Tibetan Buddhism, Shia Islam). The first part of the paper (at least 50 %) should be on a summary of the religion with its tenets, beliefs, rituals, and history. The last part should be a missiological engagement. What principles, perspectives, activities, and perspectives should be in mind when engaging with a follower of the said religion? The paper should be 20-28 pages in length, not including bibliography (double-spaced, Turabian 8th ed.). Due date will be June 30, 2018.
NOTE: ALL REQUIRED WORK FOR THIS COURSE MUST BE SUBMITTED BEFORE JULY 1, 2018 (the first day of class of the next set of modules).

It is highly recommended to complete the post-session work (i.e. all assignments) within 90 days of the last day of class in order to begin pre-session work for your next course. However, all assignments MUST be completed before July as a grade of failure may be issued. If additional time is required, the student must request an extension prior to this date. If merited, a 90 day extension can be granted (a fee applies). Please note the following policy for this class:

Incomplete Grades

Students are expected to complete all course work in a timely fashion as specified by the instructor in the course syllabus. A grade of “IP” (In Process) will be issued if the professor’s due date falls after the AGTS semester ending date. Due dates of doctoral modular courses are at the discretion of the professor but will be considered IP until the first day of the next module or set of modules. A grade of failure may be issued if the work is not submitted by the first day of the next module(s) unless the student has requested an extension. If the student requests additional time, an incomplete “I” grade may be given at the discretion of the instructor for a 90 day extension for extenuating circumstances upon the presentation of the Incomplete Grade Request form: http://agts.edu/current-students/administrative-forms/. In the event the instructor grants a grade of incomplete, he or she will have the option of lowering the final grade for the course one letter grade lower than it would have been had the work been submitted on time. If the work is not submitted before the expiration of the 90 day extension, a grade of failure may be issued. No student will be permitted to begin credit courses in a new semester if carrying more than two IP or I courses. Note: A $50 fee will be charged to the student’s account for every extension granted and a $30 fee applies to every grade change even if the instructor has approved an extension for completing the work.

General Guidelines for Formal Writing Assignments: The papers should be written carefully and adhere to the source documentation method set out in Kate L. Turabian, et al., A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 8th edition. As per GMD requirements, the use of text notes is required, but for annotations footnotes should be used for clarity. The papers will be graded on cogency, clarity, comprehensiveness, and proper formatting (See Addendum One for the “AGTS (GMD) Rubric for the Evaluation of the Quality of Student Writing” (The rubric which will be used for the grading of your papers)). Given the close time frame for distributing the papers to all participants there will be a grade reduction for lateness.

All work must be submitted electronically via course commons. NOTE: include your last name as the first word in the file name. Please submit your work as soon as you complete it so as to avoid the accumulation of work (and stress) at deadline dates. If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.
