ASSEMBLIES OF GOD THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY MISSION:
The purpose of Assemblies of God Theological Seminary is to train men and women to fulfill the mission of the Church as taught in Scripture—Shaping servant leaders with knowledge, skill and passion to revitalize the Church and evangelize the world in the power of the Spirit.

EVANGEL UNIVERSITY MISSION:
Evangel University is a comprehensive Christian university committed to excellence in educating and equipping students to become Spirit-empowered servants of God who impact the Church and society globally.

CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
In depth Biblical theological Exegetical study of the Hebrew text of Leviticus with literary and theological analysis of the writer's intended message. Major interpretive issues will be covered.
COURSE PREREQUISITES:
The Core Courses.

COURSE PURPOSE:
To provide experience in deeper biblical theological study of the Hebrew text of a book of the Pentateuch, including grappling with how the Old Testament law relates to Christians.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:
- All assignments are due on the date and time specified on the Course Outline and in the assignment drop boxes in COURSE COMMONS. They may also be sent in by email. Late work may be penalized. Contact me if you are going to be more than 3 days late.
- All students are expected to communicate with the instructor any concerns, technical difficulties, and/or questions they may have via email, phone call, or face-to-face appointment.
- Students are expected to have access to:
  - Course Commons (the documents in the files will be referred to in class, frequently)
  - Evangel Email
  - The graduate level library resources required for this study
  - All assignments need to be submitted in Microsoft Word format.
    - File extension: .docx or .doc format
    - Campus computer labs have Microsoft Office 2013 or Office 2016 installed.
    - The latest version of Office is available for your personal machine. It can be downloaded by following the instructions at: https://help.evangel.edu/hc/en-us/articles/201759875-How-Do-I-Get-Microsoft-Office-for-free-
  - All formal papers (unless otherwise specified by the instructor) are to be formatted according to AGTS’s T9-SBL2 Academic Style.¹

SUMMARY:
This is a four credit course and so the student is expected to do around 180 hours of work for it. Ph.D. courses typically require approximately 3,000 pages of reading, but these are understood to be covered at differing speeds and with differing thoroughness, according to the nature of the material. Some readings are for depth of the content and advancing one’s understanding in a specialized area, probably at no more than 30 pages per hour.

FORM AND STYLE OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED TO ROGER COTTON
- All work for me must be typed, double spaced, with one-inch margins and the right margin NOT justified, and be proof-read. I prefer that you do not use both sides of the paper, but I allow it.
- The format should follow Turabian (the latest edition). I especially want the format of signed articles in books such as encyclopedia articles, word studies, and other multi-author books to be listed according to 17.1.8.2. Not following this could cost the student part of their grade. When you need to cite a source you may choose which ever of the three citation methods in Turabian you prefer to use: foot notes, end notes, or parenthetical.

- For assignments under 5 pages, do NOT use a Title Page. Put the following information at the top of the first page: Name, assignment, course, my name, date. Do not put anything but the page numbers at the top of the other pages. Do NOT use a cover; just staple it.
- Unless otherwise instructed, you may always turn in your work by e-mail (cottonr@evangel.edu).
- Your writing should demonstrate good, formal, clear, writing style (see handouts and Strunk and White or Getting the Words Right by Cheney). I recommend using the program Grammarly. If the student needs coaching on how to improve their writing they should go to the Write-Place, on the EU campus.
- For assignments with specific readings, no bibliography is needed unless you want the professor to know about additional reading you did. If you need to cite a source that was assigned, just put the last name in parentheses with the page number.
- The length of written assignments may exceed the specified limit by up to 25%.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS:

Presession Translation

You are responsible for being able to discuss your reasons for the way you think the Hebrew should be translated in the above passages. Nothing is to be turned in except the diagrammed translation of chapter 19. Take whatever notes will help you help you in the future and help you contribute in class. We will all learn from each other’s work with the text and various scholarly sources. In class you are not expected to sight-translate the Hebrew or discuss the translation from memory. You may use your computer and any notes in class. You don’t have to look up every word but you are accountable for why you accepted or chose the translation of every Hebrew word. That means that you need to make an informed choice about any uncertainties or ambiguities from looking at the best tools. Depending on your knowledge of the particular words and their forms and syntax, consult the following as needed: HALOT; a Hebrew concordance (computer searches on the Hebrew root are recommended); NIDOTTE; Waltke/O’Connor’s syntax known as IBHS; and the best commentaries that deal with the Hebrew: Kleinig Concordia; Milgrom AB; Hartley Word; Wenham NICOT, and Sklar TOTC. Wenham and Sklar will have the least detail on the Hebrew but on any issue that they deal with, they are excellent. The only commentary you have to consult for every translation is Kleinig. The others listed above should each be consulted several times during your translation work and especially for your research paper. If you find others to be helpful, please let me know.

This is not intended to take a lot of time per verse, on average. These verses are chosen for their theology and for a few issues. Spend the most time on issues of interesting syntax and difficult meanings. To limit the number of verses many are skipped between the ones I listed to be translated. Those other verses should be read quickly with Hebrew helps or just read in a translation of your choice. For this kind of deeper study of the text, I recommend using a very literal translation rather than the CEV or even NIV. The latter two are important for further study and how best to express the ideas, but translation work needs to compare various translations that show the ambiguities and issues to be dealt with.

For the flow of thought analytical diagramming of chapter 19, there is an instruction sheet and a sample of mine in the course files. The sample uses the ESV but yours must be your own translation.

The following readings are required for the course:

Before the class sessions
The Kleinig commentary Hebrew comments on all passages translated.
Gane, Cult and Character chapter 1.
Read as many of the readings for the class discussions, listed below, as you are able to. They are provided in the course files on Commons. Finish them by the final due date of the course.

By the due date for the final course work
Skim through the commentaries by Wenham and Sklar. Read as carefully as the material is helpful to you—especially the passages you have questions about. Be sure to read carefully the commentary on any passages for your research paper.
Finish all readings in the course files (at least skimming them for main points) and sign the accountability sheet giving the per cent that you read.

a. The readings above under “Before the class sessions.”

b. Each of you must be ready to discuss the Hebrew text and theology of Leviticus during the class sessions, which will proceed through the book, dealing with topics and issues as they come up, following the schedule below. Each of you is expected to make some substantial contributions to the understanding of some points of Hebrew, voluntarily.

c. Each of you must be prepared to discuss significant points from Gane’s book on OT law.

d. Written assignments to be presented in class: Each of you must select two chapters from the list below to analyze and explain to the class, when they come up on the schedule, and turn in afterward a written copy of 5-10 pages for each. These chapters mainly deal with the major theological interpretation issues of Leviticus 1-16. You are to give your main agreement and disagreements with what the author says and lead the class in discussion of the major assertions. The chapters below which are from sources other than the Gane text book, Cult and Conscience, are provided in the course files on Commons.

   - Gane, Cult and Conscience, any chapters except: 1, 16, 17, 18.
   - Douglas, Mary, Leviticus as Literature, any of these chapters: 4, 7, 8, 9
   - Douglas, Mary, “Sacred Contagion” from Reading Leviticus ed. by Sawyer
   - Douglas, Mary, “Poetic Structure in Leviticus” from Pomegranites and Golden Bells ed. by Wright, Freedman, Hurvitz
   - Boda, Mark, A Severe Mercy, Chapter 4
   - Sprinkle, Biblical Law and Its Relevance, chapter 7 or 10.

Post session Assignments

a. Theological outline of Leviticus (just down to the chapter level).

b. Summary of the theology of Leviticus and the basic principles of relationship to Christians in 4-6 pages.

c. Research paper of around 25 pages (approved ahead by the professor)

   Either

   a biblical theological exegetical study of a chapter or a passage of around 20 verses

   OR

   - the asham offering
   - the meaning of some aspect of the clean/unclean instructions in that culture and the theological principles for us

   - the best explanation for why the longer period of uncleanness for the birth of girls
   - the jubilee in Israel and principles for Christians
   - structural questions about the flow of the content of the book or any section of the book with proposed theological teaching intent

d. Sign the accountability sheet for the readings.
